

Pale jittered points show original 0/1 outcomes; dark points and lines show population-level model predictions with 95% confidence intervals.