

Pale points show individual observations; dark points/lines and vertical intervals show model-predicted means with 95%