

Pale points show individual observations. Dark points and lines show model-predicted means with 95% confidence intervals.